CAST STONE • GFRC

Some of Stromberg's biggest efforts go into smaller buildings, such as the construction of this private residence on Little Pine Lake in Perham, Minnesota. The home features a multitude of architectural accents fabricated by Stromberg.

This particular home is a cast stone showcase for Stromberg. The home features four cast stone fireplaces built by Stromberg. Two interior fireplaces illustrate the sculptural abilities of Stromberg Architectural Products with ornate relief elements. One fireplace melds into an integrated paneled wall backing that ends with a matching relief, highlighting a high circular window surround. The larger main fireplace features two twisted columns that frame the otherwise subtle centerpiece for the home's sitting area. Two exterior fireplaces provide gathering space on outdoor patio areas.

Individually fabricated cast stone pieces on the building's exterior fit together to form an elegant paneled archway on the back side of the building. This feature matches well with the Stromberg window surrounds which envelope the home's exterior walls.
