A fine example of the superior quality of Stromberg Architectural Products can be found in the Jamestown dorms on the campus of the College of William and Mary. William and Mary is one of the most prestigious Ivy League schools in the country. The new Jamestown dorms are a source of pride for the 300-year-old college with a kitchen on every floor, sound-proof music practice rooms, covered porches and sunlit study lounges.

Stromberg Architectural Products supplied cornice, columns, and window headers and sills made from our Glass Fiber Reinforced Concrete (GFRC).

When looking for an appearance that architecturally exudes class and sophistication, it would be very hard to surpass the campus of the College of William and Mary. When looking for the right architectural products to create such an environment, it is impossible to surpass Stromberg.
